

Medical Schools and Interfolio

The Faculty-Friendly Platform that Matches Your Process

The Interfolio Faculty Information System easily accommodates the distinct needs of medical schools.

For just a few examples:

- At the University of Colorado-Denver, the School of Medicine's Faculty Affairs office has used Interfolio to gain clear visibility into their faculty review and promotion practices across all departments and divisions.
- At New York University, the School of Medicine has eliminated hours of administrative work (and a now unnecessary email inbox) by collecting faculty and clinical staff applications in one place online through Interfolio.
- The Medical University of South Carolina (MUSC) uses Interfolio across all six of its colleges—both for faculty evaluation workflows, and as the system of record for degrees, rank and tenure status, promotion tracks, college engagement, and more.
- The University of North Texas Health Sciences Center (UNTHSC) uses Interfolio as the faculty data source powering its public faculty profiles site (take a look at profiles.unthsc.edu).
